This is my sweet 13 1/2 year old Daisy. After research and finding this site and so many comments re: Bravecto, I knew I needed to comment.

We started Bravecto in July without any notice of symptoms until perhaps a month ago. (A healthy 13 year old prior) several occasions of vomiting, and two weeks ago lack of appetite and vomiting, with lethargy.

After diagnosis of Acute Pancreatitis, and several visits to our Vet for treatment this past week and a half, I asked the question of side effects of Bravecto.

The Vet was quick to deny this as a possible link. Her liver enzymes and kidney function studies were normal but has a definite high lipase indicating Pancreatitis.

She has shown no signs of improvement at this point which is heartbreaking..we continue to hope she can rally !
I will continue to follow this site and group ...

October 01, 2016 (update): I hope I am not having false hopes but last night she took teaspoons of diluted chicken broth, this morning a bit more with blended chicken breast, carrots, and white potato, and this afternoon Hills Prescribed digestive food in small amounts!! I can only hope and pray she is turning a corner!!
